In re:

FTX TRADING LTD., et al.,

Debtors.

Chapter 11

Case No. 22-11068 (KBO)

(Jointly Administered)

Response to the FTX Recovery Trust's One Hundred Seventy-Third (Non-Substantive) Omnibus
Objection to Certain Late Filed Proofs of Claims (Customer Claims)

RESPONSE:

1. I, Tomasz Komenda, hereby submit this written response to object to the proposed disallowance of my proof of claim (Claim No. 99867), which has been included in the FTX Recovery Trust's One Hundred Seventy-Third (Non-Substantive) Omnibus Objection.

2. I respectfully request that my claim be allowed and not expunged, for the following reason(s):

- I experienced technical difficulties when attempting to access the claims portal before the deadline.

- I was under the genuine impression that I had successfully submitted my proof of claim before the deadline. I did not receive any notice or confirmation that my submission was incomplete or invalid.

- Upon further review, I realized that the amount of 1,012.52 USD included in Claim No. 99867 corresponds to a wire transfer I made to FTX EU Ltd in November 2022, which was never credited to my account. I have since learned that these funds fall under the jurisdiction of FTX EU (Backpack EU), and are being handled separately. I respectfully ask the Court to disregard this amount from my claim.

- Furthermore, after removing the mistakenly included USD amount related to FTX EU, I confirm that the remaining balance subject to refund under Claim No. 99867 pertains solely to 0.005807940 BTC, which was held in my FTX account and not transferred or recovered via other means.

3. I acted in good faith and submitted my claim as soon as I became aware of the process, and I respectfully request the Court to consider these circumstances as a basis for allowing my claim despite the technical lateness.

4. Attached are relevant documents in support of my position:

- [E.g., copy of my submitted claim, email confirmations, screenshots, proof of FTX account, balances, etc.]

5. I am available to provide any additional documentation or clarification the Court may require.
